READY

For Greatest Battle Ever Fought Between Men

Over Three Million Soldiers Now Engaged in Actual Warfare

200 Miles of French Frontier
One Bristling Battle Line

LATEST WAR BULLETINS

London, England, Aug. 13.—The hour of the great battle which will have much to do with settling the future of Europe is appreciably nearer.

Reports of engagements, which when the main armies meet will be considered insignificant, have been coming in all day, showing that the cavalry screens, sometimes accompanied by infantry, whose duty it is to find out what is going on behind, have come into contact in Northern Belgium, near Haelen, and on the French frontier near Othain.

The meeting of these reconnoitering parties has resulted in some pretty severe fighting, in which, according to the French and Belgian accounts, the allies scored further successes.

The other side of the story is still to be told, for Berlin remains silent. In fact the German war office has had little to say since it reported the capture of the city of Liege.

No Further News of Liege.

The position around that fortress is believed in something of a mystery.
The Germans have resumed their attack on the forts, but how they are progressing has not been communicated to the outside world.

Brussels had a report tonight that the forts had succeeded in silencing all the big German guns, but little credence is placed in this. It may be that, for the moment, the invaders have stopped their onslaught either to rest or to adopt some new means of gaining their object.

Lorraine for the present seems to have been left out of the fighting, while Alsace, in Western Germany, is the scene of engagements between the advance guards of the main German and French armies.

Kaiser's Troops Alleged To Have Captured Over 1,200 French Soldiers.

Berlin (By direct wireless from Nau-en, Germany, to Goldschmidt Wireless Company's station at Tuckerton, N. J.) Aug. 13.—The German troops took 120 of the French officers and 1,110 French soldiers prisoners in the fighting at Moulhausen, Alsace.

They also captured four French cannon.

Another 1,000 French officers and men were taken prisoners by the Germans in the fighting near Longwy.

German soil is now entirely cleared of French troops.

The Associated Press correspondents in Brussels, London and Paris Thursday made desperate efforts to get past the censors the facts regarding the battle at Haelen, Belgium. These facts have been gleaned from the various dispatches:

The battle centered around Haelen in the Belgian province of Limbourg, extending to Diest in the north of the province of Brabant after passing round Seelhem.

A patrol of carabineers first signalled the approach of the German troops Wednesday. The Belgians manned the trenches and a hot fire greeted the German soldiers. The German guns were then brought to bear and swept the trenches with such a deadly hail that the Belgians were obliged to fall back on the town of Haelen.

The official Brussels statement then says that "the Germans, in spite of the numerical superiority, were thrown back toward Hamet and St. Trond."

"At 7 o'clock last evening," says the official report, "all the country between the three towns mentioned had been cleared of German troops except the dead and wounded, who were thickly strewn about the fire zone."

Upwards of 200 dead German soldiers were counted in a space of fifty yards square.

A church, a brewery and some houses in Haelen were set afire and two bridges over the Demer were destroyed by Belgian engineers. Great quantities of booty were collected on the battlefield, and this stacked in front of the town hall of Diest. Many horses also were captured.

One dispatch claimed that three-fifths of the German troops engaged were killed or wounded.

Another puzzling dispatch stated that Thursday morning the Belgians "took up the offensive against the Germans, with the object, it is believed, of picking up the dead and wounded and collecting abandoned war material." If the Belgians, as told in the first dispatches, repulsed the Germans and the latter fled, why should the Belgians have to take the offensive to rescue their own dead and wounded? That is one of the puzzles caused by the censorship. It clearly shows that the Belgian dispatches have not told the whole truth.

According to the Brussels Le Soir, the German casualties totaled 2,000, equally divided between the killed and wounded. The Belgian casualties were not given.

American Censorship Extended

Washington, August 13.—It has been decided to impose the same censorship on French and English cables as is now imposed upon German owned wireless stations at Sayville, L. I., and Tuckerton, N. J. Orders to place Government agents, probably naval officers, as censors of the American ends of the cables were prepared today. Protests have been lodged with the White House and the executive departments that while the German stations were discriminated against, the British and French cables were unrestricted, and it was said that military information was sent over them from the United States, which was afterward transmitted by wireless to French and British warships to the disadvantage of the Germans. German organizations and citizens in this country protested that that was a violation of the neutrality proclamation. Censorship on the cables will, as on the wireless, admit of no code messages, or operations in violation of neutrality.
